

Research highlights:

- Circumstances governing NDMA release from ranitidine drugs are not well understood.
- LC-MS analysis of defected products might provide clues for mechanistic determination.
- DMF might be involved in ranitidine contamination.
- Mitigation of NDMA generation should be explored.